Roosevelt Talk To Trace Work Of 5 Years

President to Discuss Entire Legislation of New Deal Tonight

By the Associated Press.
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt disclosed today he would discuss in his campaign speech tonight all New Deal legislation passed in the last five years.

He said it would cover the Wagner Labor Relations and Social Security Acts, care of crippled and destitute children and other laws.

Asked if he was ready to discuss possible revision of the Wagner act in the light of the expressed opposition to revision by the Labor Relations Board, the President said every law needs improvement and always will.

In response to other questions, he said while the Federal administration could not be held responsible for coercion of W. P. A. workers by either Democratic or Republican local politicians, it was making every effort to keep such coercion to a minimum.

All possible steps, he added, were being taken to keep local politicians and others from being mixed up in W. P. A.

Responding to questions about published reports of coercion of relief workers, the President said he had only read in the newspapers that both sides were attempting to influence votes in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Roosevelt criticized as a deliberate misrepresentation a newspaper editorial in the New York Herald Tribune dealing with his reply to a press conference query last week relating to a poll of 5,000 voters in Connecticut.

The President recalled that at that press interview a questioner sought his comment on reports that a poll by the Republican State Committee of Connecticut showed 85 per cent of the 5,000 persons polled answered "no" to whether they believed they were better off than two years ago.

He added his comment was: "So what, considering the source."

Seeing Lesson in Confidence.
The holding of the newspaper editorial, he said it omitted the fact that the poll was conducted by the Republican Committee and also his words "considering the source."

He said this ought to be a lesson on why the people lose confidence in newspapers. He added he welcomed opposition and varying opinions in editorials, but as a matter of simple honesty they should be based at least in part on fact.

He said the editorial was not true of those appearing in all newspapers and he did not regard his statement as an attack on the press.

The President's talk will be broadcast from 7:30 to 8 p.m. over three national networks.

Hoover Speaks Tomorrow.
Among the listeners undoubtedly will be high Republican officials, eager to gather material for quick refutation. Others may be former President Hoover, who will speak tomorrow night at Spokane, Wash.

But there will be hundreds of other orators of all parties who will make their final arguments in bunting-decorated halls during the week end. From Senator to sheriff, nearly every candidate will try one more appeal to his constituents.

On Tuesday millions of voters in 47 States will choose 35 Senators, 432 House members, 32 Governors and a host of State and county officials. Maine voted in September, re-electing a Republican Governor and three Republican Representatives.

A survey by the Associated Press indicated about 40,000,000 citizens would cast secret ballots. This would set a record for an "off-year" election, but would be 5,500,000 below the high mark of the 1936 presidential race.

73.9 Per Cent of Total.
The 40,000,000 total would represent 73.9 per cent of the estimated eligible vote, which the survey reported to be 54,324,930.

In such key States as New York, Pennsylvania and California, where the contests have been growing more heated each day, the turnout may approach the 1936 figures.

Although this is not a presidential year, the results of next Tuesday's balloting will be examined closely by both Republicans and Democrats for indications of the country's attitude toward the administration.

Amnesia Victim Identified at Gallinger

A young woman found wandering near Union Station last night, an apparent victim of amnesia, was identified at Gallinger Hospital today as Mrs. Catherine Nelson, about 25, of 2208 G street N.W.

Mrs. Nelson's husband and a friend went to the hospital this morning and established her identity. The young woman remained at the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Nelson was questioned by a policeman and sent to the hospital when she was unable to recall her name or where she lived. She was without a coat or hat when found. She left her home about 9 o'clock last night, it was said.

Anti-Nazi Measures Weighed by Swiss

By the Associated Press.
BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 4.—President Johannes Baumann today called an extraordinary meeting of Swiss police chiefs to consider measures for stamping out increasing Nazi activity in Switzerland.

Of justice and police, asked the heads of police departments of several cantons to meet him at Berne.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP).—J. J. Peley, president of the Association of American Railroads, announced today the major roads of the Nation would withdraw their present notice of a 15 per cent wage cut for nearly 1,000,000 workers.

Peley said he was sending a telegram to President Roosevelt informing him that "the railroads are taking this action not because they agree with the conclusions reached by the fact-finding board, but because they recognize the gravity of the situation and because they hope that out of it will come, through the co-operation of all concerned, a sounder and more equitable transportation policy in this country."

Unused U. S. Land and Plants To Be Used to Build Defense

New Orleans Navy Yard and Factory In West Virginia to Be Operated

By the Associated Press.
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that it had been decided to reopen the New Orleans Navy Yard and the war-time armor plate plant in West Virginia.

He said the decision resulted from a series of surveys, adding that the latter plant would not be used for armor-plate manufacture, but for an unnamed Government purpose.

The President said that in rounding out national defense expansion, efforts would be made to utilize all unused land and plants owned by the Government instead of buying private property for the work, thus effecting a large savings for the Government.

King George Lauds Roosevelt Role in Averting War

U. S. Aided Peace Cause Powerfully, Commons And Lords Told

Closing session of Parliament has seen making of important history for Britain. It has approved Prime Minister Chamberlain's deal with the dictators, first the Munich settlement, which dismembered Czechoslovakia, and later the Easter pact with Italy, which was held up after its signature until Premier Mussolini withdrew 10,000 of his troops from the Spanish civil war.

He said his comment was: "So what, considering the source."

Seeing Lesson in Confidence.
The holding of the newspaper editorial, he said it omitted the fact that the poll was conducted by the Republican Committee and also his words "considering the source."

He said this ought to be a lesson on why the people lose confidence in newspapers. He added he welcomed opposition and varying opinions in editorials, but as a matter of simple honesty they should be based at least in part on fact.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The foreign ministry announced tonight that Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Great Britain had accepted an invitation of the French government to pay an official visit to Paris from Nov. 23 to 25.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—King George VI terminated the present session of Parliament today with the prayerful hope that "a new era may have opened up for Europe and warm friendship between France and Britain may be the result of the timely action" to avert war in the time of crisis.

In a speech read in his absence during the closing moments of the first session of his reign, the monarch reviewed the grave events of September and declared:

"The cause of peace was powerfully aided by the timely action of the President of the United States of America."

"The desire of all peoples not to be drawn into a war with one another is manifest, and significant, and everywhere men and women share with me, I am convinced, the feeling of deep thankfulness that imminent peril was thus averted."

"I pray that, with the passing of this peril, a new era may have opened up for Europe."

The time-honored phrase "my relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly" took on new significance in the light of the four-power Munich accord partitioning Czechoslovakia.

The King described his "deep anxiety" during the Czechoslovak-German crisis. He spoke of Premier Chamberlain's "valuable support" for the British proposal to Chancellor Hitler for the conference of Italian, British, French and German statesmen. He added the "dignity with which Czechoslovakia accepted her fate. He bespoke his pride in the "calmness and determination displayed by all my people. He thanked them for "their spirit of service."

King George said his ministers were confident the Anglo-Italian agreement now being concluded would "still further strengthen the good relations already existing between Italy and this country."

Refers to Spanish War.
He said the government "noted with satisfaction" the withdrawal of foreigners from the ranks of both the Spanish government and "the administration at Burgos."

He expressed the "earnest hope" that the Chinese-Japanese War would end quickly.

His majesty said he was "deeply distressed by the continuance and recent intensification of violence and lawlessness in Palestine." He spoke of the feeling of the visit he and Queen Elizabeth made to France in July and of the strength of Anglo-French friendship.

The speech was read to both houses after the members of the House of Commons had been summoned to the Lords' chamber in traditional fashion.

The new parliamentary session opens Tuesday.

Arms Measures Approved.
The House of Commons last night approved support of "the government's determination to complete with the utmost speed the measures necessary to provide for the country's needs," defeating by 355 to 130 an opposition motion of censure.

Jules Henri de Sibour, Famous Architect, Succumbs to Illness

Descendant of French Royalty Designed Many Capital Buildings

Jules Henri de Sibour, famous architect and a dominating figure in National Capital society for more than three decades, died at Emergency Hospital early this morning. He had been ill since October 26, and an operation performed a week ago failed to save his life.

Born in Paris on December 23, 1872, Count de Sibour, as he was entitled to be known, was the son of Count Gabriel de Sibour of Carpentras and his American wife, the former Mary L. Johnson of Belfast, Me. Through his father, he was descended from King Louis XI of France.

Brought to the United States in boyhood and receiving his preparatory education at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., Count de Sibour was already, by natural endowment and instinct, an artist when he entered Yale University. He returned to Paris to study at the Ecole des Beaux Arts at the close of his academic career.

Practiced in New York.
New York was his first choice for the practice of his profession and he opened offices there in partnership with Bruce Price. Celebrity came to him when he was appointed (See DE SIBOUR, Page A-6.)

Menuhin Plays, Refuses Still to Join Union

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—The dispute between Yehudi Menuhin and the American Guild of Musical Artists was no nearer solution today, after the youthful violinist had played the first of his two scheduled concerts with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

Still refusing to join A. G. M. A., Menuhin took the stage last night and won rounds of applause from an audience which heard him featured in the first of the season's concerts. His program was scheduled to be repeated today.

Jawbone Found, Four Confess Killing Fried

Cremation Admitted Along With 2 Other Abductions

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The district attorney's office today announced murder charges would be pressed against four alleged members of a "kidnap syndicate" who, it said, confessed slaying Arthur Fried, 26, a Brooklyn resident who was released after ransom payments.

At the same time officials announced that part of a human jawbone with several teeth still intact had been found by police digging in the basement of Ukrainian Hall, an East Side social establishment where one of the kidnappers said Mr. Fried's body was cremated in a furnace.

A quantity of bones unearthed yesterday were found to be those of animals.

Investigation Spreads

Today's discovery started the police on an investigation of the possibility that an additional victim may have fallen prey to the gang. Medical examiners said the jawbone was that of a person who had died recently.

Mr. Fried was kidnapped last December 4 and killed, according to the announced confessions, four days later.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Rosenblum, after all-night questioning, announced the four prisoners had confessed and evidence against them would be presented immediately to the grand jury.

Describe Kidnaping

The confessions, he said, were obtained from Demetrius Gula, 30; William Jackson, 27, and John Virga, 34, arrested Tuesday by Federal agents, and Joseph Stephen, 28, who recently was sent to Sing Sing Prison for violation of parole.

Mr. Rosenblum said the men told of kidnapping Mr. Fried in the Westchester club and taking him to Ukrainian Hall in lower Sixth avenue, Manhattan, after ransom negotiations had failed.

Sacoda was accused by the three others of shooting Mr. Fried to death, as he sat, bound and gagged in a chair in the basement headquarters of the gang. Mr. Rosenblum said Sacoda, brought here from Sing Sing for questioning, accused another member of the gang of actually slaying. All four, the official said, admitted helping cremate Mr. Fried's body in the basement furnace.

Two Other Abductions

The assistant district attorney said the prisoners also confessed to the abductions of Benjamin Farber, 33, a Brooklyn businessman, whose relatives paid $1,000 ransom for his release, and Norman Miller, 19-year-old son of a Brooklyn stevedore contractor.

He said he would seek indictments for the three kidnappings in addition to a true bill for murder in the Fried case.

Sacoda, brought from Sing Sing after midnight in a surprise move as Westchester and Kings (Brooklyn) Counties also sought jurisdiction, broke down, Mr. Rosenblum said, after Miller and Farber identified him as a member of the gang.

Mussolini Warns Of Revenge Dreams

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Nov. 4.—Premier Mussolini warned the country today against men who "are dreaming of speculative and impossible revenge."

"For this reason," he told a crowd massed before the Palazzo Venezia for ceremonies marking the 20th anniversary of the Italian World War victory over Austria, "there is still need of sleeping with our heads on our packs as we did in the trenches."

Mussolini evidently was referring to factions abroad whom he regards as being opposed to policies of general European appeasement on the basis of the four-power Munich accord which sliced up Czechoslovakia. A hundred thousand veterans arrived in Rome for the celebration.

Defects Described

The defects, most of which have been described in published news stories during the past few years, have ranged from cracked stern posts and tendency to excessive rolling in early models of the new heavy cruisers to defective anchor gear and condenser troubles to inefficient heavy gearing.

Much of the trouble, which has been remedied, some of it at considerable expense to the Government or contract builders, is described as due to the fact the United States for many years has not engaged in construction of large naval vessels, and difficulties are to be expected as a result of lack of continuing experience. Others were anticipated as a result of new designs and are experienced in all fields of new engineering, it was explained.

Dartmouth Grid Star Returns to Studies

By the Associated Press.
HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 4.—Harrington Gates, 24-year-old erstwhile sparkplug of Dartmouth College's football team, returned to school today after a five-day sojourn with the religious cult known as the "Holy Ghost and Us" Society.

"I've come back for good," said the star blocking back, who has played but one game this year.

Clad in a football sweater, Gates was driven directly to his college lodging house by Joseph Holland, a member of the cult and his host during the past week at the New Boston, N. H., turkey farm, headquarters of the religious group.

Mr. Holland, wearing dark glasses, refused to talk with newsmen and, after leaving Gates at his rooms, left for New Boston.

Navy Department Silent on 'Shake-Up' In Ship Building

Friction Over Design On Inspection Board Is Reported

The Navy Department refused today to make any official comment on published charges that differences of opinion on the design of new naval vessels have resulted in a "shake-up" of the Board of Inspection and Survey.

Officers involved in the reported shake-up are Rear Admiral H. L. Brinser, president of the board, and Capt. Joseph S. Evans. Naval records show that orders for the transfer of both officers were published last August 12.

Transferred at Own Request.
Admiral Brinser, at his own request, was ordered transferred to duty on the Navy General Board.

It was explained unofficially that the General Board, more than any other naval board, is in charge of actual laying down of fundamental policies affecting construction and design of new ships and that it would be a "logical move" for an officer of the Board of Inspection and Survey, interested in ship design, as Admiral Brinser is said to be, to request transfer to the General Board.

Rear Admiral Yancey S. Williams had been ordered here last September from duty with the fleet to succeed Admiral Brinser as president of the Board of Inspection and Survey. His orders were canceled about two weeks ago, however, because of illness which resulted in his death November 1 at San Diego, Calif. No new appointment of a successor to Admiral Brinser has been announced.

Transfer Declared Routine.
Capt. Evans, the Navy Department records show, had completed a normal three-year tour of duty in the Board of Inspection and Survey and his transfer August 12 was described as "perfectly routine." He has been assigned to Schenectady, N. Y., to act as inspector of naval material at the General Electric Co. plant.

Behind the transfers, according to reports published today in the New York Times, is a story of criticisms made by Admiral Brinser and Capt. Evans of details of design and particularly of power plant design in a number of the new naval vessels of various types. The Board of Inspection and Survey, it was stated, has reported numerous and often serious defects in new ships.

Fire Destroys Bus; Started by Riders After Crash

By the Associated Press.
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 4.—A Peninsula Bus Lines bus carrying nine passengers went off the highway near Denbigh shortly before 3 a.m. today, tearing away part of its superstructure and slightly injuring several of its occupants. The vehicle later burned.

The driver said a heavy fog obscured the limits of the roadway, causing him to crash into three telephone poles.

A fire built by passengers in an open field after the accident to keep them warm spread by means of leaking gasoline and caused the wrecked bus to go up in flames.

14 Killed in Crash Of British Airliner On Isle of Jersey

Disaster One of Worst English Accidents; 11 Passengers

By the Associated Press.
ST. HELIER, Island of Jersey, Nov. 4.—Fourteen persons were killed today in one of Britain's worst airplane disasters when a fully-loaded passenger airliner crashed in a field just after taking off for Southampton, England.

The victims were nine men, four women and one child, and included the pilot, Capt. A. G. M. Cary; the wireless operator, Lt. J. H. Jones; and a man working in the field where the plane crashed.

The plane was on a regular run between Jersey, in the English Channel, and Southampton.

Crash After Take-off.
The crash occurred at 10:52 a.m. (5:52 a.m. E. S. T.), shortly after the take-off from Jersey Airport, which is several miles from St. Helier. The plane was seen to circle several times in the channel island fog before falling into the field about 600 yards from the take-off.

It was a four-motored De Havilland plane named St. Catharines Bay.

The only recent comparable disaster in Britain was the crash of a Netherlands airliner at Croydon Airport December 9, 1936, when 14 persons were killed, including Juan de la Cierva, inventor of the autogyro.

Line Used by Vacationists

It was the worst disaster involving a British airliner since the Imperial Airways' City of Liverpool crashed at Dixmude, Belgium, in March, 1933, causing 15 deaths.

The plane which crashed today was operated by the Jersey Airways Service on a route used by hundreds of vacationists each year, when the plane was used by the company.

Distress calls quickly brought doctors, nurses, firemen and ambulances. In a few moments after the crash the peaceful countryside looked like a wartime casualty station.

Narrowly Misses Hotel

The airliner was seen to be in difficulties when flying over St. Peter Port with smoke and flames streaming from one of her engines. She turned around apparently in an effort to return to the airport, but suddenly hurtled to earth, narrowly missing a hotel.

The plane fell with a terrific crash, toppled over and burst into flames. A few seconds later there was a loud explosion.

All of the dead had addresses in the British Isles.

He said that he expects to call the committee to meet at an early date.

Prince Georges Ballots Are Held Illegal

Court Bars Duvall's Name; Can't Print Before Deadline

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.
UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Nov. 4.—Warning that it would be "physically impossible" for Prince Georges County to hold a legal election next Tuesday, Judge Walter J. Mitchell of the Maryland Court of Appeals today granted an injunction removing the name of William A. Duvall, Republican candidate for county treasurer, from the ballot.

The injunction forced the Board of Election Supervisors to discard 3,000 ballots already printed with Duvall's name as one of the candidates and start anew printing the 45,000 ballots required for the election.

Samuel A. Wyvill, member of the Board of Election Supervisors and Marlboro publisher, holding the contract for printing the ballots, said it would require at least 30 hours from the time he started printing the revised ballots at 2 p.m. today to finish the job.

Legal Deadline Midnight

Under the law requiring that all ballots be in the hands of election supervisors four days before an election, the ballots would have to be printed and distributed before midnight tonight.

In the hearing on the injunction concerning Mr. Duvall's candidacy, Judge Mitchell pointed out that it would be physically impossible to meet this requirement and that any one dissatisfied with the election results could then challenge them on the basis of this legal technicality.

The injunction restraining the Board of Election Supervisors from using any ballots containing the name of Mr. Duvall was granted on a petition brought by Raymond Winston, a resident of the Berwyn district, who filed the injunction within 15 days before the primaries, as required by law. It was alleged that he filed only two days before the primary, on September 12.

Removal of his name leaves only two official candidates for county treasurer—Harry W. McNamée, the Democratic candidate, and Capt. Vinton D. Cockey, who is running as an independent after failing to win the Democratic nomination.

Space for Write-in

However, there will be space on the ballots for supporters of Mr. Duvall to write in his name.

Attorney Leroy Humphrey, representing the supervisors, told Judge Mitchell that granting Mr. Winston's plea "will not only throw our county election machinery out of gear, but will have a serious effect on the election throughout Maryland."

Judge Mitchell, who described the Maryland election laws as a "Chinese puzzle," said he hoped the present hearing will serve to bring about clarifying amendments.

Meantime, political leaders were attempting to run to earth a rumor that a similar petition for injunction pending against the name of Mr. McNamée.

Should this occur, only Capt. Cockey would be left in the running. It was understood here that plans are afoot to contest the candidacy of Mr. McNamée on the same ground on which Mr. Winston sought to remove the name of Mr. Duvall.

The situation arises out of the failure of the Republican party in the county to name a candidate for the office. Later Mr. McNamée filed as the Democratic organization candidate and Capt. Cockey filed by petition about 16 days before the primary.

Duvall filed his candidacy only two days before the primary.

Both Mr. McNamée and Senator Lansdale G. Sasser, Democratic campaign manager in the county, have denied connection with the filing of the petition. Mr. McNamée said Mr. Winston is one of Capt. Cockey's most ardent supporters.

Two Die as Fire Damages Rectory in New York

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Two men, one a Franciscan brother, died early today in flames, which damaged upper floors of the rectory of the Church of St. Anthony of Padua.

One priest, trapped five floors above the street, was critically burned, and another was injured in leaping from a window to the roof of an adjacent building two floors below.

The dead were Brother John Chiazza, 58, and Julius Tappero, 65, a cook.

Father Richard Fagin, 36, was taken to Columbus Hospital with burns of face, hands and body.

Sixty-two-year-old Father Luigi Vitale suffered a leg injury when he leaped from the window of his room to the roof of a settlement house. A third priest, Father Antonin Tosti, suffering from exposure, was hospitalized.
